

A MESSAGE FROM DIZPOT

DIZPOT COMMUNICATION ABOUT TRANSPORTATION DELAYS

Due to the increasing rate at which COVID-19 has spread in recent weeks, and the uncertainty the pandemic is creating, the worldwide shipping industry is experiencing longer shipping times.

From the start of the year, the pandemic has put a strain on the transportation industry as there are less boats on the sea, planes in the air, trains on the tracks, and trucks on the road. With the American holiday season upon us, additional resources are being consumed by the fact that more consumer products and packaging are taking up space in all shipping channels.

In an effort to operate with our partners in full transparency, DIZPOT is letting its customers know about the limited shipping channels. The cost to move product is volatile and increases/decreases without notice. With that said, DIZPOT will no longer be able to show landed costs for standard shipping.

All shipping will be quoted in the following format:

- Cost of hard goods
- Standard Shipping (14-16 weeks)
- Expedited Shipping (7-9 weeks)
- Rush Shipping (4-6 weeks)

Schedule a meeting with your sales rep, or call DIZPOT immediately, to talk about managing your supply chain. The sooner you meet with DIZPOT the more of an opportunity we have to mitigate costs by always meeting supply chain best practices.
